

Greenbeltian Seriously Hurt In Triple Crash

Two passenger cars and a truck collided on the Glendale-Branchville Road in Greenbelt, Saturday, May 31, at 2:30 A.M. in one of the worst accidents in Greenbelt's history. Heavy fog and a slippery road combined to bring about the crash which resulted in serious injury to Marshall Zoellner, of Greenbelt, who suffered a concussion of the head, and minor lacerations to Frederick Weidner and William B. Moore, both of Washington.

According to Safety Director Panagoulis the two passenger cars met on the northbound lane in a head-on collision. The truck, a light delivery model, driven by Mr. King of Washington piled up on the two cars.

Both passenger cars were demolished and the truck badly smashed. Officer Ernest Walker reached the scene of the accident six minutes after it occurred. Weidner and Moore were treated at the Greenbelt Hospital and Zoellner was taken to Casualty Hospital in Washington.

Of three occupants of the truck only Moore, a passenger was injured.

JOE BARGAS LEAVES FOR ARMY

Joseph E. Bargas, Town Councilman and past president of the Citizens' Association, left for the air base at Augusta, Georgia, as First Lieutenant in the Quartermaster's Corps, on Monday, June 2.

Mr. Bargas has been an active member of Greenbelt Community life. He directed the Catholic choir for two years, served two years on the Transportation committee, and was with the audit committee of Consumers Service. He attended Greenbelt's accounting class for one and a half years, and the Spanish class since it started last fall.

Mrs. Bargas and their two children will probably remain in Greenbelt all summer; at least until they know definitely how long he will be away. When questioned about the permanency of his orders, Mr. Bargas said, "They are supposed to be for one year, but I may be in service longer. However, I'll be back."

The next three months will probably be very busy for him, as he is planning to take a practical test for his captaincy at the end of the summer.

Medical Center On New Schedule

As previously announced, the Doctors at the Medical Center began to use the new appointment system for seeing patients. All patients, members of the Health Association as well as private, must make appointments in advance with the nurse Mrs. Henes, for consultations with the physicians. The new arrangements, of course, do not apply to emergency cases, and the nurse is extending every effort to make the new system as flexible as possible so that no patient will have to wait very long for consultation or treatment.

All persons desiring to make appointments should contact the nurse either by phone, postcard or by a visit to the Medical Center. Patients are asked to cooperate to the best of their ability and to offer any helpful suggestions they might have during the initial trial period, to the nurse or business office at the Medical Center.

The first two days this week, it is reported, gave every indication that the new system will be a success. Patients with specific time allotted them will not have to wait to see the doctors, and the doctors will have their work spread out more evenly than heretofore and will be able to give a satisfactory length of time to each patient.

Greenbelt Scout Camp Dedicated

Sunday at 2:30 the Boy Scout camp in Greenbelt's back yard will be dedicated to mark the completion of the first building at the location. Town Manager Roy Braden has been asked to speak during the ceremonies, and Greenbelt Scouts along with those from all parts of Prince Georges County will participate.

The campsite can be reached by turning left from Edmonston Road at the foot of the hill and curve which is just beyond the Berwyn Road crossing. A sign will indicate the side road to use. All Greenbelters have been invited by District Commissioner Frank S. Taylor to bring their lunches and participate.

This camp, located on Greenbelt land, will serve the Prince Georges County Scouts. The administration building, just finished, was built largely with funds donated by the College Park Rotary Club.

Rev. Kincheloe To Resign; To Serve As Army Chaplain

At the regular meeting of the Governing Board of the Greenbelt Community Church, Rev. Robert L. Kincheloe submitted his resignation as minister of the Church in this manner:

"It is with regret and after much consideration that I hereby submit my resignation as minister of this Greenbelt Community Church, to take effect the 15th of September, 1941.

"I am looking forward to a Commission in the U.S. Army Reserve Chaplaincy, Air Corps Division. We are confident that the experience of the new work will be a stepping stone, for us, in the service of making religion real and useful to men who in a time like this need Him more than ever. It is with this assurance of a challenging opportunity that we take leave."

G.C.A. Has Lively Meeting

The meeting of the Citizens' Association on Monday, June 2nd, proved to be one of the liveliest in recent months, despite the fact that no action could be taken by the membership because the meeting was five members short of a quorum.

Mr. Donald Cooper delivered a report of the activities of the Boy Scouts, and Mr. Abraham Chasanow, President of the Citizens' Association, reported on the first two meetings of the 4th of July Picnic Committee and outlined the tentative program for the celebration.

Most of the meeting was spent discussing the general lack of interest of the residents of Greenbelt in the various organizations, and most of the members contributed their views on the reason for the decreasing interest and suggested a number of solutions to the problem. One of the members suggested door prizes to be offered at each meeting, and a majority of those present agreed that there should be more discussion of the various controversial issues which confront the town, such as income limitations, complaints pertaining to the stores, and debate on proposed ordinances and resolutions pending before the town council. Upon request of the membership Mr. Chasanow appointed Dayton W. Hull chairman of a committee to consider the question of income limitations and residence tenure and report back to the Association at its next meeting in September.

Officers Make First Catch At Lake

The first victims of Greenbelt Ordinance No. 25, prohibiting swimming in the lake, were apprehended last Friday. The first group consisted of four boys from East Riverdale, who decided that the lake was a swell spot to cool off, at about 12 o'clock that afternoon. However, the judge soon made it uncomfortably warm for them, by imposing a $5.50 fine on the boys who stood trial and an $8.50 fine on the one who forfeited his collateral.

Later that night (10:30 P.M.) two boys and two girls were embarrassed by Greenbelt officers while enjoying the refreshing waters of our lake. The young couples were residents of College Park. Each forfeited their collateral of $5.50. The swimmers were left all wet and considerably less wealthy.

The penalty for swimming in the lake is not less than $2.50 nor more than $25.00.

Ernest Walker, newly appointed member of the Greenbelt police force, was the arresting officer. Safety Director George Panagoulis assisted in the making of the second arrest.

Mid-West CO-OP Manager On Visit

Edward E. Schwartz, manager of a cooperative food store in Montevideo, Minnesota, was a visitor in Greenbelt last Monday. Mr. Schwartz came here with Kenneth Jernberg, an employee of the local food store.

They were among the more than 20 persons who have been in New York for the past two months taking the food store operations course offered by the Council for Cooperative Business Training. The latest term of this course began on April 7 and was completed just last Saturday.

Mr. Jernberg went back to work in the food store Monday while Mr. Schwartz visited and observed the cooperative here—centering his attention on the food store.

Roberts Elected Camera Club President

The Greenbelt Camera Club, at the election of officers Wednesday night, elected Wayne Roberts, president, D. A. Wills, vice-president and Levy Pittman, secretary and treasurer.

In discussion of the summer months, the club decided that the regular meetings would be discontinued, and instead, there would be an outing every two weeks, under the direction of a member appointed at the previous meeting.

DR. BERENBERG LEAVES FOR PRIBILOF ISLANDS

Dr. Samuel Berenberg left Tuesday on a six-month leave of absence from the medical staff according to announcement made by Ed Weitsman, President of the Health Association. The doctor is leaving to fill a post as medical officer on the Pribilof Islands, 300 miles off the western coast of Alaska, and he must be in Seattle on June 10th to board boat for the Islands.

Dr. Berenberg's temporary leave coming at the same time as Dr. Joe Still's departure for an army post, complicates the situation at the Medical Center for the present and leaves Dr. Joseph Silagy in full charge. Ed Weitsman has given every assurance that adequate medical coverage will be maintained for the town until such time as new appointments can be made from the present list of applicants. He says that a second physician will probably be engaged this week on a part-time basis and that at least one permanent appointment will be made shortly. Announcement will be made in the Cooperator as soon as such appointment is made.

Dr. Berenberg says that he looks forward to his new duties in Alaska with considerable anticipation. The Pribilof Islands are the fur-seal center of the world where the largest herds of seals come for breeding. The white population is less than fifty. The doctor has promised to keep in touch with Greenbelt via occasional articles and pictures describing life in this interesting corner of the world, and we have no doubt that when he returns he will have a large enough repertoire of experiences to fill a book.

Picnic Committees Picked

At the meeting of the Citizens' Association 4th of July Picnic Committee on Thursday, May 29th, Mr. Abraham Chasanow announced the appointment of the following committee chairmen:

Thomas R. Freeman, Parade Committee
William R. Neblett, Games and Contests Committee
Lloyd B. MacEwen, Prize Committee
Mrs. H. Wendell Miller, Program Committee
Reverend Robert L. Kincheloe, Reception Committee
Robert C. Porter, Entertainment Committee
George J. Panagoulis, Ways and Means Committee

Although not all of the organizations had decided how much they could contribute toward prizes for the various events, a preliminary estimate indicated that approximately $115. had already been pledged by the various organizations, in addition to the sum of $200. allocated by the Town Council for fireworks. Many of the organizations have also agreed to prepare a float for the parade. Mr. Panagoulis also stated that the Bladensburg and Berwyn Heights Fire Departments had volunteered to participate in the parade, and that the Bladensburg Volunteer Squad had promised to have its ambulance in attendance in case of emergency.

The next meeting of the Picnic Committee has been set for Thursday, June 12, at the Elementary School.

Band Gets Money For Uniforms

One of the features of the Decoration Day exercises was the presentation by the P.T.A., of $25 and a due bill of $75, to the Town band. This money is to be used by the band for uniforms. Mrs. Edwin Welsh presented the money to Mr. Robert Porter, president of the Parents' Board of the band.

There are fifty children in the band, and enough uniforms for all of them will come to well over $2000. Mrs. Wendell H. Miller, past president of the P.T.A., said that she hopes other Greenbelt organizations will follow their example.

We Sincerely Regret - - -

Uncle Sam has deprived Greenbelt of many of our finest citizens during the town's existence. More recently we have seen George Warner, former Mayor, suddenly whisked away to Philadelphia and Dr. Joe Still called to the colors. At least these men, valuable as they were to our community, left one at a time. But this week a triple blow was dealt to our town, when, in one breath, our Health Commissioner, and one of our leading Councilmen were summoned into the service of the government and our Minister submitted his tentative resignation to the Community Church.

It is not simple to estimate the contributions made by Dr. Samuel Berenberg during his two years of service. One of the foremost cooperators of Greenbelt, Dr. Berenberg was largely responsible for the continued success of the Health Association. As Health Commissioner he earned the everlasting gratitude of Greenbelt mothers, by instituting complete free serum treatments for children of all ages.

Joe Bargas leaves two important posts vacant which it will not be easy to fill. As member of both the Council, and of the Auditing Committee of Consumers Service, his shoulder remained at the wheel in performance of difficult, needed and inestimable services. As former president of the Citizens Association, Mr. Bargas guided one of our most important organizations in serving our town during its formative stages.

To Reverend Robert L. Kincheloe's impending departure from Greenbelt we can only look forward with real regret. That he has chosen to minister to the spiritual needs of our armed forces is a tribute to his patriotism as an American and to his sincerity as a Churchman. He has chosen the more difficult and trying path of two. But we begrudge his leaving, for we need him too. His contribution to our town has been in harmony with the ideals of the most devoted champions of "the town of tomorrow". He has shown us the real ways of democracy and tolerance and it is difficult to picture a Greenbelt without Reverend Kincheloe.

The saddest part in the leaving of these three of our leading citizens is yet to occur. Who is there to replace these men? We cannot get along without them and soon we must realize, in the hard way, the benefits they have given to our town.

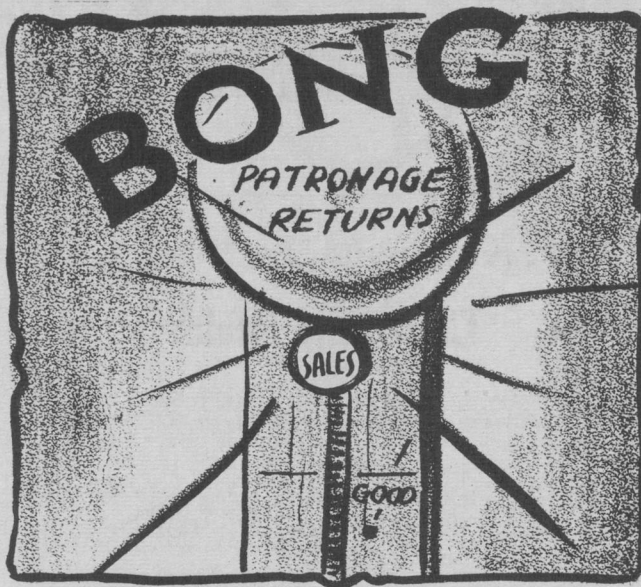

We can only hope that we will be able to find others who can at least carry on the fine tradition each of these men has established in his own sphere.

How Come?

Last Saturday's accident was unfortunate in more than one respect. That three persons were injured could not be helped by any outsider but we are curious to learn why some outsider conceived the brilliant thought of transporting the most seriously injured person of the three to a hospital in Washington, 15 miles distant, when our own Greenbelt Hospital was exactly a half mile up the road.

This is not a reflection on the ability of our local hospital to accommodate the injured, but rather a condemnation of the good sense and local spirit of the person responsible for this misdeed.

Letters to Editor

Dear Editor:

I'd like to sing publicly the praises of the Greenbelt Hospital, and incidentally boost the cause of the small town hospital versus the big city institution.

My experience in a big Washington hospital a short time back filled me with gloom. The nurses were overworked and couldn't give more than the barest sort of minimum care; on top of this they were mostly husky youngsters who didn't know what it meant to be sick. The hospital was grimy; the meals unattractive.

How different the Greenbelt hospital is! A nurse is always on hand when you need her, and besides being very competent, she is likely a married woman with children and hence in a position to understand a hospital patient's psychology. The hospital is kept spotlessly clean, and the meals don't get cold from being carried down long corridors and up elevators. Food prepared in a small kitchen is also tastier than the concoctions that are whipped up in the cooking quarters of large institutions. A patient in the Greenbelt Hospital feels that the highest professional standards are being observed; at the same time the atmosphere is cheerful and friendly. If you have to go to a hospital, you can't do much better than here.

To the Editor,

Since the first day I moved into Greenbelt I have been wondering why the town managers find it necessary to announce the noon hour by sounding the loudest, most frightening, and most unnecessary alarm purchasable on the market.

I am a mother and previously regarded the noon hour as the mid-day rest period, with my baby asleep and the world at peace. The shrieking siren of noon tide has made of this hour a nerve wracking period during which I have to get the baby back to sleep and listen to the most unpleasant howls of the various frightened babies throughout the neighborhood.

Why?

A mother.

GERMAN CO-OPS LIQUIDATED

The property of co-operative societies in Germany has been taken over by the German Labor Front.

The co-operative stores will be converted into private stores and, according to the plan, will be given to ex-soldiers after the war.

This announcement was made by the German News Service, Berlin, March 1, and is republished in an article by Edward Topham in the Co-operative Review, England. The official German announcement reads:

"Property of Co-operative societies has been transferred to the German Labor Front by a decree published on February 28.

"Centers of distribution are to be converted into retail shops and turned over to private ownership.

"As distribution branches are to be given mainly to men who fought at the front, these changes will take place on the whole only after the war."

On the same day, Dr. Ley, head of the Labor Front, wrote an article in Der Angriff, official journal of the Nazi party, in which he admitted that at first the Nazis could not liquidate the co-ops completely "without causing great disquiet among the broad masses." But now, it seems, the Nazis have created such chaos and confusion that they think they can, so the co-ops are being made part of the Labor Front. (Many of the larger co-ops were liquidated in 1935 and democratic control thruout the movement was eliminated).

Ley announces:

"The movement thereby loses its co-operative character. . . The Labor Front is not taking over the co-operatives as an instrument against the artisan and the small trader (and this is my promise and unalterable will) but we wish to make this whole institution a means of serving the trader and artisan. This fact must bring about a synthesis of trader and consumer."

In other words, the property so painstakingly gathered by generations of co-operators for the service of consumers is now to be prostituted to the exploitation of the consumer. Ley concludes:

"I wish to make this a great work for the National Socialist community. I wish to reserve the shops for those of our soldiers who show any ability for this kind of work. Whoever wants to become a capable business man will be given a shop by the Bank of the German Labor Front. He will be financed by the Bank of the German Labor Front and thus be given a chance to become an independent man."

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATIONS

Civil service examinations for the positions described below have been announced by the U.S. Civil Service Commission. Applications will be accepted at the Commission's Washington office not later than the closing dates specified. The salaries are subject to the usual 3 1/2 percent retirement deduction.

Landscape architect, various grades with salaries from $2,000 to $5,600 a year. Applications must be filed not later than June 26, 1941.

To fill the needs in various Government agencies for nurses for hospital and public health nursing, medical technicians, and laboratory workers, two new examinations in these fields and a revised type of examination for junior graduate nurse have been announced. They are:

Public health nursing consultant, $2,600 and $3,200 a year. The closing date is July 26, 1941.

Medical technician, $1,620 to $2,000 a year; junior laboratory helper $1,440 a year. The optional subjects are general and roentgenology and in addition for some of the positions, surgery.

Junior graduate nurse, Veterans' Administration, Public Health Service, and Indian Field Service, $1,620 a year. Applications will be rated as received until further notice.

Applications for the positions of card-punch operators and tabulating machine operators listed below will be rated as received until further notice. Appointments will be made in Washington, D.C., only. A written test will not be given.

Alphabetic card-punch operator; under card-punch operator, $1,260 a year.

Tabulating machine operator; alphabetic tabulating machine operator; $1,260 to $1,440 a year.

Full information as to the requirements for these examinations, and application forms, may be obtained from the United States Civil Service Commission, Washington, D.C.

Through an examination announced some time ago, the Civil Service Commission has been seeking experienced men for procurement inspection positions in the Air Corps of the War Department. The Commission has not been able to obtain enough men for these positions. On the contrary, the needs have been extended to other fields than those in the original announcement. Five new fields in which persons may qualify have been added, and the options now are: Aircraft, engines, instruments, parachutes, aircraft propellers, tools and gages, radio, aircraft miscellaneous materials, textiles, fur-lined clothing and optical.

Original appointments will be made at salaries ranging from $1,620 to $2,600 a year. Opportunities for advancement are excellent. Applications may be filed until further notice with the Secretary of the Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners at Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio. Qualified persons are urged to apply for details to the Secretary at Wright Field or to the U.S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D.C.

OUR NEIGHBORS

By Patty Beebe

HELLO, GREENBELT:

Over an out-of-town radio station I heard the announcement made to the effect that every day from 2 'til 3 the childrens' Story Hour would be held at the local library. What an excellent idea! Special stories for children are selected by the Library Board and read to children interested in attending the hour. The announcer stated that the hour has been such a success in the past few years that they instituted it as part of the regular library functions. I wonder if Greenbelt shouldn't try out this plan during the summer. If not every day—why not once or twice a week? Children play so hard that this hour of relaxation, with pleasant mental stimulus, should be very beneficial to them.

Congratulations to Mary Jane Craig of 35-C Ridge. We've heard that she has just been selected to sing a solo at the Elementary School Graduation Ceremony. What a nice thing to happen, Mary Jane.

As you know Dr. & Mrs. Berenberg sail from Seattle on June 10 on their 10-day voyage to the Pribilof Islands, where they are taking a 6 to 12 month leave of absence. Dr. Berenberg gave me some facts about these islands while he was still considering the idea of going. They are interesting. The Pribilofs are two small islands midway between Alaska and Russia. The nearest land to these islands is some 300 miles away (on the Aleutian Islands). The Pribilofs often fog bound, are visited only 5 times a year by a ship. One island is populated by 276 people and the other by 175, but out of this 451 population there are only 25 white people. The rest of the population consists of natives who speak Russian. There is only one medical doctor and one dentist to serve both islands. They are sent there under the supervision of the Interior department. While there Dr. & Mrs. Berenberg expect to write a book together on their experiences there and about the people of the islands. They promised to keep us posted so we'll all be curious until we hear. That is truly a jaunt. Bon voyage and red skies at twilight.

My family were up to visit us over the holiday week-end, so the state of the weather didn't affect me as it might have done otherwise. They returned southward Sunday evening. — Mrs. Sally Meredith of 18-D Crescent had her mother, Mrs. Ethel S. McArthur and her sister Mary Ann as guests over the week-end. Coincidence being what it is we discovered that Sally's mother and my mother grew up one block from each other in Atlanta, Ga., and had mutual friends.

Mary Lung of 7-F Crescent and Lexy Jane Craig are being graduated from the University of Maryland this June. They are enjoying the many exciting June week activities which will culminate with Commencement. After graduation both girls will leave Greenbelt. Miss Lung expects to be located in Western Maryland and Miss Craig will take a position with the West Virginia Public Health.

Don't forget the Bake Sale June 7 at your Food Store. As I mentioned last week it is for your nursery school and with the Sunday School picnic to be held that afternoon you certainly won't be doing any baking. Support it because it is a good cause.

Last week a rather bibulous fellow kept on going North on Ridge Road and came to a sudden stop. When Mr. Panagoulis pulled him out of the car he shouted "I'm going to sue this town. What do they mean by putting that stop sign right in the middle of the road?"

The other day day Pauline Trattler of 1-H Southway was listening to a local Pot o' Gold program and heard her name called, waited while they dialed her number, then just about collapsed when the announcer said, "Too bad, but Mrs. Trattler's phone is busy." Being on a party line can be a costly proposition in a case like that. Luck should have run three times in a row. It ran twice for Pauline at the cooking school give-a-way.

P.S. I think we'll have an early Fall.

Poison ivy has been tormenting the inhabitants of North America for centuries. It has never been found growing outside this continent. Wherever incoming settlers arrived, from Mexico to Canada, they found this minor foe waiting them along with hostile tribes and other greater dangers. Captain John Smith attempted to conquer this enemy by a poultice of gun powder soaked in milk. But, do not smile at his ignorance. Too many people today use just as useless remedies and science has just begun to find partially satisfactory means of prevention and treatment.

During the long, evil career of this beautiful vine, many superstitions have grown up about its action or the treatment for its affect. One sad truth will be disappointing to many people who think they are not susceptible to its influence. NO ONE IS REALLY IMMUNE to poison ivy. After years and years of walking unscathed through vine-choked woodland and handling the leaves and the vines, there can come a day when the poison will exert its painful influence on the too optimistic person. The effect of contact with poison ivy is due to the sensitivity of the victim and this sensitivity not only varies among individuals but also in the same individual at different times. Nor is poison ivy a summer hazard only. The vine stalks in winter and the greyish white berries in autumn are just as dangerous as the leaves.

Another superstition is that people who are highly susceptible can not walk in the neighborhood of the plant without being victimized. Poison ivy is not so potent as that but the idea is based on the fact that such sensitive people are affected by contact with articles which have touched the vine such as last summer's hiking shoes or uncleaned tools. Such people are affected also by the heavy smoke of a brush fire in which the vine is being destroyed, because the smoke carries particles of the dangerous oil.

Better Buyer Meeting Hears

Dr. Berenberg On Baby Needs

Continuing activities in connection with their program for choosing best buys, the ladies of the Better Buyers groups lately have been carrying on discussions concerning baby needs. Leaders of the various groups consulted Dr. Samuel R. Berenberg regarding his recommendations as to baby needs, after which they returned to the groups to give full consideration to the information they had received.

The women have been told that plain light mineral oil, which may be purchased for 39 cents a pint, is good enough for baby oil and is less expensive than some of the other products used for this purpose. A number of other matters were also considered, among them U.S.P. talcum.

For chapped areas, borated petrolatum and Lanolin have been recommended. Boiling diapers and rinsing them with boric acid in the last water helps prevent soreness or diaper rash, it was stated. Any white floating soap is as good as castile and less expensive, the ladies were advised.

It was pointed out that when oranges are expensive Vitamin C in tablet form is the best buy. Thermometers, it was stated, are not necessary in most homes. It was emphasized that nose drops should be used only on a doctor's prescription, and that constipation should likewise be treated only by a doctor.

Pyrex bottles, it was pointed out, are much more expensive than ordinary bottles. Not only do they cost much more, but they break just as easily when dropped—which is the way most bottles meet their end anyway. Pyrex bottles cost 25 cents apiece, or six for $1.50; other bottles may be purchased at the rate of two for 5 cents, or 60 for $1.50.

The Better Buyers have made a study of petrolatum products to choose a best buy. Several products were considered and it was found that some contained 10 percent boric acid as the base with petrolatum as the other ingredient, while others were plain petrolatum which is commonly called vaseline.

It was stated that vaseline is a trade name used to sell a petrolatum product, and that the same material under the name of the ingredient petrolatum costs much less. As their best buys, the Better Buyers chose boric acid ointment (U.S.P.), which sells for 10 cents an ounce, and the 13/4-ounce jar of vaseline, which sells also for 10 cents.

About 50 stations scattered all over the country weekly broadcast CONSUMER TIME, the radio program for consumers produced by the Consumers' Counsel Division of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The broadcast is heard every Saturday morning at 12 o'clock, Eastern Daylight Time (11 A.M., E.S.T.) over the Red Network of the National Broadcasting Company.

Beauty Schedule For Milady

- Monday: A real BATH, using a flesh brush or rough wash-cloth. Scrub your neck hard. Give elbows, heels, stained finger-tips a work over with pumice. Push back cuticle on hands and feet. Give toe nails a work-out and a coat of polish. Off with superfluous hair.
- Tuesday: HANDS. Massage and exercise hands and fingers then soak in oil. Give yourself a very special, particular manicure.
- Wednesday: EXERCISE. No matter how much exercise you get during the week you still should have a day for it beside. Bowl; join a dance class, play ball with your boys and play hard. Swim, don't paddle (unless it's a canoe) or take a long long tramp. Before you go to bed that night rub oil in your scalp because—
- Thursday: is HAIR day. Wash your comb 'n brush. Straighten the house or read a chapter of that Must book then wash your hair. Use a liquid shampoo. Wash your hair twice, rinse no less than three times and use a lemon if you're blonde or vinegar if you are dark in the last rinse. Rub your hair almost dry then brush a good hundred strokes (and you should brush your hair every night. It won't hurt any type wave you have) until nearly dry then set it your favorite way and trying a new hair-do once in a while will be as exhilarating as a new hat.
- Friday: EXPERT BEAUTY CARE. Go at least four times a year to an ultra beauty salon for the WORKS. Then every Friday use your fine memory to duplicate what they did to your skin. If you can—get your hair set at your local shop each Friday.
- Saturday: Today is SLICK-UP DAY. Change your nail polish which by now is slightly frayed. Smooth up Friday's wave. Use a quick face mask to smooth off any fatigue you feel. Use an anti-perspirant just before you slip into that special dress and never go out the door until you've looked at your self from head to foot in a full length mirror.
- Sunday: Take a real good look at yourself. In other words take stock. Be honest and very critical. Then map out a do-over plan that'll win you the prize—admiration in your own two eyes.

Marshall Maslin once wrote a brief article on two words he hated to hear. He doesn't like to hear a young chap saying: "I sold myself to that prospect and put the deal over in a hurry." He writes: "I've had young fellows try to Sell Themselves to me. They smiled, made pleasant talk, seemed very interested in me and my affairs, and made me think what fine young men they were and how much they liked me. And when they heard me purring, they got right down to business and began their selling talks...They put business on a personal basis. They made a refusal seem like an insult to an intimate friend. And they made me MAD...When I said, 'no' they looked hurt, like trustful children who'd just been told there wasn't any Santa Claus. And that made me twice as mad.

"One of those disappointed salesmen complained to a friend of mine that he was afraid I hadn't liked his personality. His personality had nothing to do with my decision. He'd failed to sell because in my family, at that time, we didn't need what he was trying to sell.

"I don't see why anybody should throw himself in as a bonus when he's selling a useful, reputable article. I don't get that idea at all. It gives me the creeps...And if you give me my choice of salesmen, I'll take a grumpy old shoe clerk I used to know, who growled and hardly said a word, but sold us shoes, and saw that they were well-fitting and took our money and said goodbye. He could have been a bit more polite, but at least he was selling us shoes and not himself.

"Perhaps I am getting old and fussy, but I'm fed up on having people try to Sell Themselves to me. Somehow, it seems such a long, long way from the sturdy Americanism we used to hear so much about."

COMMUNITY CHURCH NEWS

Special Days for our Church: June 15th, Father's Day. BOYS AND GIRLS, here's your chance to bring your Father to Church. YOU responded very well to the invitation Mr. Kincheloe sent you to bring your mothers. Now, let's see you get your fathers. Let's make it his big day!

Youth Sunday, June 22nd—Our High School and Elementary Graduates will be in attendance on that Sunday in a body. There will be special music and talks by our Young people.

Children's Day in Church will be observed on the next Sunday, June 29th. A special program for the kiddies of our Church School is being planned.
